Exploring Our Faith Together

St. John Bosco Parish support for Good Food Junction

The parish community of St. John Bosco decided to donate this year's Christmas collection to the campaign to build and equip the Good Food Cooperative Grocery Store at Station 20 West, which will provide residents in the core neighbourhoods of the city with a source of nutritious, affordable food. St. John Bosco's $10,887.25 donation was one of many responses to an Advent fund-raising campaign launched by Christian churches in Saskatoon for the Good Food Junction project. St. John Bosco parish representatives recently gathered to present the donation to Station 20 West project coordinator Christine Smilie (adults, left to right): Blair Weimer, Kay Vaughn, Christine Smilie, Walter Katelnikoff, Janine Katelnikoff, Wylma Orosz, George Blanchette, Georgiana Chartier, Shirley Blanchette, Don Cote, and Parish Life Director Theresa Winterhalt; and children (at front): Hope and Dominic Thebeau.

MESSAGE FROM THE BISHOP

By Bishop Donald Bolen

March 9 we will celebrate Ash Wednesday, and begin the holy season of Lent. The word 'Lent' comes from the Anglo-Saxon 'lencthen,' originally referring to the lengthening of days, the coming of spring. But it is also helpful to remember that in Italian, as in Latin, the word 'lente' means 'slowly.' Here in Saskatchewan, spring does indeed come slowly, and usually the conversion and the growth towards spiritual maturity that Lent calls forth from us also comes slowly.

Lent begins with the sign of ashes on the forehead, and with abrupt words which would be considered rude in other contexts: Remember that you are dust, and unto dust you shall return. The alternative formula is no less direct: Repent - that is, change your ways - and be faithful to the Gospel. This is reminiscent of a Chinese saying which is a favourite of mine: if you do not change directions, you are likely to end up where you are heading. The ashes are a sign of death, a blunt reminder of our own mortality, for we are not made of immortal stuff. In Genesis, we hear how God forms a human being from the dust, and breathes into his nostrils the breath of life. And at death, when we breathe our last, to the earth we return, as the casket is lowered into the ground: Earth to earth, ashes to ashes and dust to dust.

Why do we begin Lent by being marked with the sign of death? We do so in order that 40 days later we can be marked, not only on our foreheads but in every fibre of our being – in our minds, our hearts, our bodies – with the ultimate sign of the power of life over death. When Jesus was asked for a sign, he said the only sign he would give his generation was the sign of Jonah, who spent three days in the belly of a whale. The sign of Jonah is the sign of the Lord's death and resurrection. We are marked by death in order to join our lives to the Lord's dying and rising, so that we too might experience God's transforming work in the messy and broken parts of our lives.

Lent is a season of transformation. It is not meant to be a dismal season, an endurance test; it is a season of grace and reconciliation, of renewing ourselves in the ultimate foundation of our joy and our hope. In the pages of this mini-newsletter, you can read about a wide variety of events, programs and talks – pertaining to the scriptures and the liturgical seasons; to spirituality and prayer; to forgiveness and healing; directed towards justice, towards youth, towards people of all ages and a wide variety of interests – which could all be of assistance in welcoming and living deeply this season of Lent. I encourage you to find appropriate ways to give priority during Lent to your spiritual life, perhaps taking in one of the programs offered within the diocese. Let us welcome anew the Lord of Life into our lives.

Diocesan Congress held in three locations

By Kiply Lukan Yaworski

Bishop Donald Bolen and staff from the Catholic Pastoral Centre gathered with deanery representatives, parish pastoral council members, and hundreds of ordinary Catholics from across the diocese for a Congress Day held this year in three centres.

Congress Day with the Bishop was held Jan. 15 in Kindersley and Feb. 12 in Saskatoon. It is also scheduled for Feb. 26 in Humboldt.

This is the second consecutive year that the annual Diocesan Congress consultative and visioning process has included both a one-day large diocesan gathering in Saskatoon in November, followed by a second day of local gatherings in different parts of the diocese in the New Year.

The Saturday morning sessions began with information and feedback about the upcoming new English translation of prayers for the Mass, soon to be released, along with the revision of the General Instruction for the Roman Missal (GIRM).

Congress Day in Kindersley.

Saskatoon Rural, Saskatoon City and Outlook deaneries attended Congress Feb. 12.

At the Saskatoon gathering, speaker Marci Deutscher of the Catholic Pastoral Centre explained the history of the liturgy translation and described how all English-speaking countries in the world will use the same new word-for-word translation from the Latin original. Unity in the celebration of the liturgy around the world is the goal of the new translation, and is also the value to be protected in introducing and implementing the changes, she said.

"Change always opens up the possibility of division," Deutscher said, reporting some of the controversy and myths that surround the issue.

The Canadian Catholic Conference of Bishops (CCCB) is waiting approval of the final version before proceeding with plans to implement the new translation and GIRM, which may not happen until 2012, the Congress gatherings heard.

Participants discussed what would be needed to best introduce the changes at a personal, parish and diocesan level. "We are committed to doing this in a well-prepared way," said Bishop Donald Bolen. "We are trying to walk very carefully through the changes."

Another portion of the Congress Day introduced the diocesan policy for the protection of children, youth and other vulnerable persons from all kinds of abuse: sexual, physical, emotional, financial. The policy has existed in the diocese for nearly 20 years, and has undergone ongoing revision.

Among the measures outlined in the policy is a requirement that all employees and volunteers who work with vulnerable persons must have a police record check. A number of other recommendations – such as working in pairs, and being aware of behaviour that might constitute "grooming" of a potential victim – were also examined.

During the Congress Day afternoon sessions, Bishop Donald Bolen led a reflection on the call to evangelize, centred on the scripture passage from 1 Peter: 3:15: "Always be ready to give an account of the hope that is within you."

The bishop said that discussion at the three Congress Days will assist him in preparing a pastoral letter about the call to evangelization.

In small group discussions, participants shared numerous signs of hope they saw in the diocese, articulated the challenges that prevent us from sharing faith and the gospel, and identified some of the fundamental human and faith experiences that give them hope. They also brainstormed practical ideas that might help believers more effectively share their faith with others, in a world where believing is sometimes difficult.

Ultimately our hope comes from what we experience of the life of Jesus, Bolen said.

"There is a power of God at work, a power which tells us that life is stronger than death, love is stronger than hatred," he said. "Hope is something which has to stand up precisely in the areas of darkness or of struggle."

The Congress Days each concluded with celebration of the Eucharist.

Bishop will join World Youth Day travellers on trip to Spain

By Anne-Marie Hughes

World Youth Day pilgrims from the diocese of Saskatoon are not only looking forward to celebrating with Pope Benedict XVI in Spain, but also to experiencing the event side-by-side with their own local bishop.

"It has been in the works for a while, but it has now been finalized that Bishop Donald Bolen will be joining us on our pilgrimage to Spain," announced diocesan Youth Ministry coordinator Colm Leyne, noting it will be a great chance for participants to get to know the bishop on a personal level.

Bishop Bolen has never been to a World Youth Day before, and he said that he is looking forward to participating in the 26th WYD in Spain this August with young pilgrims from his own diocese. The theme for the international youth gathering is 'Planted and built up in Jesus Christ, firm in the faith' (cf. Col 2:7), which is reminiscent of the "Rooted in Christ" vision statement of the diocese of Saskatoon, the bishop noted.

Youth will start their journey in Rome before WYD begins. They will see the Vatican and experience the city for two days before heading to Assisi to reflect on the lives of St. Francis and St. Clare.

Although the bishop's schedule does not permit him to be in Rome with the diocesan group, his knowledge of the city is assisting with planning. "He has already given us some great tips and contacts on where to go in Rome and what is really worth our time when we get there," Leyne said. From Italy the pilgrims will travel to Spain to participate in "Days in the Dioceses" in which Spanish dioceses will open their doors to WYD pilgrims. The group will then meet up with Bolen in Spain.

"It will be great to experience together the great pilgrimage destination of Santiago de Compostela, and then to join the Holy Father and hundreds of thousands of young people from around the world in a celebration of our faith in Madrid," said the bishop.

A total of 26 young pilgrims will be attending WYD in the diocesan delegation. Leyne stresses that the trip is more than a vacation. Pilgrims who experience World Youth Day bring back new wisdom and faith experiences to their home parishes, he said. Also pilgrims are encouraged to take prayer requests with them from individuals in the diocese.

"WYD is a prayer and community experience," said Leyne. "It has changed me each time I have gone."

Kids for Christ now offered at St. Anne

A monthly program of faith, learning and fun for children is happening at St. Anne parish.

Inspired by the Kids for Christ program developed by Shawn and Janine Baier at St. Augustine parish in Saskatoon, St. Anne has launched its own Kids for Christ program for children ages 4 to Grade 3, reports organizer Sr. Dianne Sehn, OSU. Older children and youth are also involved, acting as helpers.

"We have a tremendous core group of parents who help me plan and organize our gatherings. My music group leading the children in action songs is tremendous," she says.

Meeting for the first time in Advent, Kids for Christ is usually held at St. Anne parish on the last Sunday of the month at 1 p.m. Each session includes a teaching segment about scripture using power point or drama, a family activity, songs and actions to explore the monthly theme, explained Sehn.

The St. Anne Knights of Columbus council purchased Kids for Christ t-shirts for participants, as well as a cross necklace, which children are invited to wear to each session and to Mass on Sunday. At every Kids for Christ session, the children receive an attendance bead to add to their cross necklace. "The participants love these sessions and the children look forward to our next gathering together."

STEPS IN FAITH
 Youth Ministry and the Diocesan Youth Retreat Team are supported by the BAA.

Retreats offered to Grade 8 students who are preparing to reaffirm their faith

The Steps in Faith process is part of the call for ongoing faith formation after baptism, confirmation and first Eucharist – which is a life-long journey for people of all ages!

Parishes across the diocese are phasing in Steps in Faith, which invites youth in Grades 6 to 8 to deepen their Catholic faith at an important stage in their life.

Steps in Faith includes learning more about the Creed, as well as retreat and prayer experiences, a service project and an invitation for young people to reaffirm their faith publicly at a parish celebration.

To assist parishes participating in Steps in Faith, the Diocesan Youth Retreat Team has designed a Steps in Faith Retreat for those youth in Grades 8 and 9 who are preparing to reaffirm their faith this spring.

For more information check with your local parish or contact the Diocesan Youth Retreat Team at the Catholic Pastoral Centre in Saskatoon: 242-1500, Ext. 242, or toll free: 1-877-661-5005.

The Steps in Faith Retreat will explore what it means to be Catholic, the call to live an active faith, and ways to deepen a personal relationship with Christ. There is no cost, lunch and snacks are provided, and the retreat will be hosted by the young adults of the Diocesan Youth Retreat Team.

Cathedral's unique stained glass will combine beauty and solar energy collection

Editor's note: Plans for the new cathedral will include striking solar-energy collecting stained glass in the building spire. The unique design element will meet some of the building's energy requirements, collecting up to as much energy as five households use in a year. The $675,000 cost of design, fabrication and installation will be covered by special donations over and above funds raised for the building in the Uniting in Faith campaign.

By Jim Nakoneshny, Building Committee Chair

Throughout its history, the Catholic Church has worked with artists in commissioning contemporary works of art for its churches and cathedrals. The Church viewed the inclusion of the visual arts as vital in celebrating the glory of God and the wonder of creation. This can be seen in countless examples of magnificent paintings, sculptures and other artworks which continue to enrich our lives.

Stained glass windows are an especially important element of many of the world's great churches since they are so tightly integrated into the basic fabric of the building itself. In the planning of Saskatoon's new Cathedral of the Holy Family, we began the search for a stained glass artist very early in the design process. The committee chose to work with Canadian glass artist Sarah Hall, whose work has won awards and acclamation in architectural and artistic circles throughout North America.

At the same time, we were also searching for a way to showcase the environmental sustainability of the new cathedral. This was of special importance to many in the church, in particular the youth of the diocese. This message was further reinforced by Pope Benedict's call for Catholics to be better stewards of God's creation. The difficulty lay in the fact that many of the building's "green" features were hidden inside walls and ceilings.

During our talks with Sarah Hall, we learned of her recent award-winning "Lux Nova" project at the University of British Columbia's graduate school of theology, Regent College. This project incorporated a mix of art glass and photovoltaic cells.

It soon became apparent that this unique stained glass was perfectly suited to the large expanse of south-facing glass high atop the front facade of the new cathedral. As a signature element in the design of the Cathedral of the Holy Family, the great south windows would showcase both art and science. Not only would the glass help to generate electricity for the building, but it would do so in a way that celebrated the glory of God and Solar-collecting stained glass will be installed in the new diocesan cathedral under construction on Attridge Drive in Saskatoon. The Cathedral of the Holy Family will include a worship space for 1,200 that can open up to seat 2,000; a hall with kitchen facilities; programming areas for children and youth; meeting facilities; and a residence for the Holy Family pastor; as well as Catholic Pastoral Centre and chancery offices, a diocesan Resource Library and archives. So far, construction is on schedule, with a projected completion date of Advent 2011. Permission has been granted to name the existing St. Paul Cathedral as Co-Cathedral, and it will continue to serve parishioners in downtown Saskatoon.

the beauty of His creation through colour and light.

Elsewhere in the cathedral, stained glass panels can be fitted inside of existing windows at a future date. With the solar glass, this was not an option. Due to the extensive scaffolding requirements needed to reach the highest points of the structure, along with the fact that the photovoltaic glass needed to be part of the exterior envelope of the building, it was determined that the only way to make this work was to install these windows during the initial phase of construction.

The 54 large glass panels were fabricated this past summer. They are now in the process of being shipped from the factory in Germany. Installation is expected to occur in April 2011, when our cathedral will become the first in the world to incorporate solar energy collection into its stained glass.

Life vigil

Bishop Donald Bolen presided at a Gospel of Life prayer service on the eve of Advent at St. Paul's Cathedral in Saskatoon. It was one of many services around the world held at the invitation of Pope Benedict XVI, who also celebrated a prayer vigil at St. Peter's Basilica in Rome Nov. 27. The Saskatoon celebration included scripture readings illustrated by youth holding a cloth; a reflection by the bishop; prayers; Eucharistic adoration and benediction. Centering Prayer (1) Centering Prayer is a method of prayer that emerges from the Christian contemplative tradition. Its source is the indwelling Trinity and it is rooted in sacred Scripture. Its purpose is to draw us into a more intimate relationship with God by surrendering to God's presence and action within. Centering Prayer is both a discipline that prepares the faculties to receive the pure Gift of God's presence in Contemplation as well as relationship with God.	St. Joseph Kindersley	9 a.m. Saturday April 16	Sr. Mary Ann Uhrmann, OSU 463-1984	Fr. ## Elan Ehresman will coordinate Ministry Development for diocese

Elan Ehresman is coordinating the diocesan office of Ministry Development, replacing Blake Sittler, who is serving as Acting Director of Pastoral Services for the next year (see item below).

Born and raised in Richmond, SK., Ehresman farmed in the Richmond area with her husband, and continued to farm on her own after his death, raising their four children. Then five years ago, she made the decision to quit farming.

"In the midst of all that, my parish priest encouraged me to go to Lay Formation," she recalls. "I was adamant that there was no way that I was going to do that." However, her pastor convinced her to give it a try, and it turned out that she loved all that the diocesan program of adult faith formation had to offer.

She became particularly committed to adult faith education, taking courses through St. Francis Xavier University's distance education program. She also fulfilled a childhood dream to serve in Africa, traveling to Ghana in 2009 and 2010 – an experience that broadened her understanding and appreciation of life and ministry.

Hearing about the opportunity opening up at the Catholic Pastoral Centre Ehresman decided to apply for the position of Ministry Development coordinator. "I am so honoured to be part of this group, and to share this vision for the diocese."

The essence of Ministry Development is being connected, says Ehresman. "It's about bringing people together, and having them realize what is available to them."

Created in 1999 as a response to emerging needs in an expanded diocese of Saskatoon, the office works to call forth and strengthen the gifts of all the baptized, to coordinate and develop ministry training and leadership development, and to lay groundwork for support networks.

In practical terms, that means working with parishes and deaneries to organize programs and courses – covering everything from grief ministry to Parish Pastoral Council operations, from how to preside at lay-led liturgies to understanding the sacrament of reconciliation as adults.

For information contact Elan Ehresman at the Ministry Development Office, Catholic Pastoral Centre, (306) 242-1500; Extension 229; toll free 1-877-661-5005 or mindevel@saskatoonrcdiocese.com

Pastoral Services Director
With Leah Perrault starting a one-year maternity leave from her position as diocesan Director of Pastoral Services, Blake Sittler has been appointed as Acting Director. Before this appointment, Sittler coordinated diocesan offices of Ministry Development and Marriage and Family Life. Elan Ehresman has been hired to take over many of those responsibilities (above) while Sittler fills his new role.

Diocese welcomes new librarian

Norlayne Scott-Gaare is the new librarian at the diocesan Resource Library in the Catholic Pastoral Centre.

Scott-Gaare was born in Wadena and has lived most of her life in Saskatoon, since moving here at the age of seven. With a BA from the University of Saskatchewan she earned her Masters of Library and Information Science from the University of Western Ontario in London, ON.

Her previous experience includes working for the Saskatoon Public Library, and in recent years, at a number of specialized libraries. The diocesan Resource Library also fills a unique niche for parishes, for those involved in ministry and for ordinary Catholics, providing faith-based materials not available in more general library collections.

Scott-Gaare says she is looking forward to the diocesan library having a higher profile in the new Catholic Pastoral Centre, presently under construction in northeast Saskatoon, and she is working on updating and expanding the collection (searchable online at: www.saskatoonrcdiocese.com).

First K of C council in diocese celebrates 100th anniversary

By Tim Yaworski

Some 265 Knights of Columbus members, wives, families, and special guests gathered Nov. 6 to celebrate the 100th anniversary of Saskatoon Knights of Columbus Council #1517, the first in the city and diocese of Saskatoon. The council received its charter Oct. 31, 1910 with 49 founding members and remained the city's only council for over 50 years.

The anniversary celebration included a reception at Bishop Mahoney Hall at St. Paul's Cathedral, which included displays about the council's history; and celebration of the Eucharist with Bishop Donald Bolen and Bishop Bryan Bayda.

In his homily, Bolen expressed appreciation for all that the Knights of Columbus have contributed to the Church and the community over the past 100 years, reflecting on how much the men's organization and the Catholic Women's League have enriched our parishes. "We rejoice with thanksgiving, with hearts full of gratitude, for all that has been done, and continues to be done: for the witness that continues to be given by the Knights of Columbus, in this council and throughout the diocese and the province."

"It is something that gets lived out not just in the grand gestures and the big actions," he said. "It gets lived out on a daily basis." He recalled his own father, who was a Knight. "What I remember from him is receiving love, receiving a sense of stability, a sense of confidence, a sense of trust, a sense of the Church as my home, a deep sense of family," he said, suggesting this is a metaphor for the greatest contributions that members of the Knights of Columbus make in the world.

"The greatest gift is one that's hidden. It's imbedded in the life of faith of all who have been a part of this community, it's imbedded in the sense of stability, confidence, faith, trust, love, that they have helped shape and form these past 100 years."

At the banquet that followed, greetings were brought by the bishops, State Deputy Ed Gibney, Saskatoon Mayor Don Atchison and MLA Rob Norris, as well as from CWL representative Kelly Donald and Gary Nolan from the Supreme Council in New Haven.

Guest speaker Abbot Peter Novecosky, OSB, challenged the Knights to continue to focus on Pope John Paul II's 2001 apostolic letter for the New Millennium. In that encyclical, the Pope outlined seven pastoral priorities for the Church: holiness of life, prayer, Sunday Eucharist, the sacrament of reconciliation, a focus on the primacy of grace, scripture and evangelization.

Holy Guardian Angels CWL council in Englefeld will mark 50th anniversary in May 2011

By Marie ven der Buhs

A celebration May 14, 2011 will mark the 50th anniversary of the Holy Guardian Angels Council of the Catholic Women's League in Englefeld, SK.

Englefeld pioneer women had a large and strong Christian Mothers Group when the parish was part of St. Peter's Abbey. When Fr. Alphonse Ludwig, OSB, came to Englefeld, he encouraged the women to form a CWL council and helped organize the first meeting with Diocesan Convenors.

The charter council saw 93 members sign up in 1961. Today the council has 62 members from a small village and surrounding farming community.

The first president was Marie Herriges, and the first executive laid the foundation for a strong and vibrant council. Many members from the local council went on to serve on diocesan and provincial executives. In 1999 the area became part of the diocese of Saskatoon. The many miles covering this diocese present new challenges for participating in diocesan gatherings.

For more information about the 50th anniversary celebration, contact the local CWL president: (306) 287-3138.
